Healthy Hoops back for second year

For those who missed last year's Healthy Hoops Pee Dee Challenge, be sure to mark your calendars for Saturday when the second annual Healthy Hoops Florence Pee Challenge returns 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at South Florence High School, 3200 S. Irby Street, to teach children how to stay fit and have fun during a free, one-day basketball camp.

Sponsored by Select Health of South Carolina, the South Carolina Asthma Alliance, AmeriHealth Mercy and the Healthy Hoops Coalition, which features a variety of community partners, the Pee Dee Challenge, which is aimed at children ages 7-15, features basketball lessons and tips from professional and local coaches.

To be a participant, children must be between the ages of 7-15, suffer from asthma and live in South Carolina. A parent and/or guardian must accompany a participant; siblings are invited.
